

THREE GERMAN FACTIONS NOW CONTEND FOR SUPREMACY; NO COMPROMISE WITH EBERT AND BLOODY CIVIL WAR IS STARTED

Armed Spartacist Forces Add to Confusion Produced by Revolution—Hundreds of Casualties in Many Cities—Von Kapp Regime Controls Small Part of Empire.

The struggle for supremacy in Germany apparently has resolved itself into a mighty three-cornered fight between the revolutionary government of Von Kapp, the old government headed by Premier, Frederick Ebert, and the Spartacists.

Violent fighting between troops and armed workmen was reported today from Berlin, Dresden, Essen, Hamburg, Altona, Leipzig and Frankfurt. Civil war appears to be inevitable in Germany.

Despite conflicting reports as to the negotiations between the revolutionary regime and the Ebert government at Stuttgart, the one reliable indication is that the attempt to effect a compromise has failed, at least for the time being.

The most important phase of the situation now is the activity of the Spartacists (Communists) who have taken advantage of the confusion to interfere with armed forces, meanwhile adding further pressure by widespread strikes.

Advices indicate that at every point where there has been fighting, the Spartacists were involved. The determined nature of the struggle is shown by the large number of killed and wounded. Official figures are not available, but press dispatches show that there were hundreds of casualties all told.

There are unconfirmed reports that local Soviet governments have been proclaimed by the armed workers at Hamburg, in northern Prussia; in the Ruhr district of western Prussia and in south Germany.

The Von Kapp regime is still holding out in Berlin, but its zone of authority is said to be comparatively small. The Ebert regime has summoned the National Assembly at Stuttgart tomorrow in an effort to regain its national powers.

Airplanes Carry Negotiations.

Berlin, March 16.—Negotiations between the revolutionary government headed by Imperial Chancellor Wolfgang Von Kapp and the old government of President Friedrich Ebert at Stuttgart are still proceeding, it was reported today. Many conflicting reports are current.

Couriers were carried back and forth between Stuttgart and Berlin by aeroplane.

While these negotiations were in progress, General Ludendorff, who attended a meeting of the Von Kapp cabinet on Saturday, announced that he and General Von Hindenburg would be members of the new ministry.

According to a pronouncement by the revolutionary regime the old government asked for a discussion of the circumstances leading up to the revolution.

Herr Maercker, a courier, who arrived from Stuttgart, admitted that he came against the wishes of some of the Ebert cabinet. Only President Ebert and Minister of Defense Noske had consented to his journey, he said.

Spartacists Big Factor.

The Spartacists have precipitated a new situation. They claim to have 6,000 armed followers and have declared a general strike, not only against the Kapp regime but also against the despotic government which followed.

Spartacist leaders characterize the Kapp clique as "martial usurpers."

There was heavy fighting during the night in the Potsdam Platz and Alexander Platz district in the capital.

The city was in darkness as a result of the strike of electrical workers.

Heavy forces of Spartacists thronged the streets.

Imperial Chancellor Von Kapp is making desperate efforts to maintain the people. Following the opening of negotiations with Ebert, a proclamation was issued here saying that a new cabinet of experts will be chosen and a new president elected by direct vote of the people within two months. Von Kapp promises a second chamber of the National Assembly to be chosen by the workers. It was announced that governments have joined in a proclamation denouncing a general strike as a crime against the people.

Popular Preparing for Siege.

The populace of Berlin is preparing for the worst. The people are withdrawing money from the banks and buying large stores of food in preparation for a siege.

The number of armed Communists in Berlin and the suburbs is growing. A statement of the reichswehr (Ebert) cabinet troops was reported today to join the Spartacists.

The revolutionary government is holding its troops in readiness for action. One of the demands from President Ebert was that the revolutionary officers be dismissed and turned over to the Ebert government to be tried on the charge of treason.

The military government has been ordered to maintain order and to suppress all unauthorized meetings and processions.

The streets have been flooded with handbills, immediately following the announcement that "a cabinet of experts" would be appointed. Handbills appeared in which the revolutionary leader said he would not appoint a minister "until the results of deliberations with Ebert are definitely known."

Leaders of the Democratic party are endeavoring to keep the party from endorsing Von Kapp. They declare that they support the general election movement against the revolutionary government.

EBERT REFUSES TO NEGOTIATE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Stuttgart, Germany, March 16.—"The constitutional government refuses to negotiate with the heads of the revolutionary regime at Berlin," said an official announcement today.

It follows in full:

"The heads of the Berlin regime are trying to make the people believe that they are negotiating. The constitutionalists refuse to negotiate with Von Kapp."

"Negotiations can only occasion distrust and confusion and prolong the disorders. The only solution is for Von Kapp, who has proclaimed himself chancellor, to resign unconditionally."

The Ebert government announces that it is safeguarding the lines of communication.

Colleagues of President Ebert expressed belief that the Berlin regime would quickly collapse from its own weakness.

Preparations have been made for the meeting of the national assembly here tomorrow.

ALLIES FAVOR EBERT FACTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 16.—The allies are determined to prevent the restoration of any member of the Hohenzollern family upon the German throne or the "re-Prussianization" of Germany. While this is known to be the attitude of the allied chancelleries today no responsible allied statesman will make any pronouncement on allied policy towards Germany. Nor will any decisive move be made by the allied governments until the situation clarifies.

The position of the allies is that they can not dictate the sort of government the Germans shall have so long as the government at Berlin does not menace the rest of Europe. It is not politic to side with the Ebert regime openly, although it is no secret that allied sympathies are with western Germany (the section supporting the republican government).

If the followers of Ebert display their true colors and proclaim themselves for a restoration of the Hohenzollerns, the allies will be prepared to act immediately to restore the economic blockade of Germany.

The supporters of von Kapp are reported to be working with all their might at Berlin to influence the allied representatives, but so far they have been unsuccessful.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has written a letter to Imperial Chancellor Von Kapp advising him to withdraw his troops from the city and abide by the new German constitution. He has sent another letter to President Ebert at Stuttgart, informing him of the communication to Von Kapp and advising Herr Ebert to reach an immediate compromise with Von Kapp on the calling of a general election.

A crowd of workers surrounded a detachment of 50 soldiers and disarmed them.

The heads of the new government said they were continuing their negotiations with the labor leaders and hoped to end the general strike soon.

Chancellor Von Kapp explained his delay in announcing the appointment of a new cabinet by saying that negotiations with President Ebert were continuing and that the new ministry would not be proclaimed until these negotiations were completed.

Aeroplane from Stuttgart and Essen flew over the city dropping copies of a proclamation signed by Ebert and Noske appealing to the people not to support the revolutionary regime.

POLICE CLEAN UP GANG OF BOYS

Frank Schermerhorn, Harold Slater and Harold Short Sent To Randall's Island—The Charge This Time Was Stealing Rolls and Milk From Porches.

Frank Schermerhorn and Harold Slater were found guilty of petty larceny in police court this morning before Judge Schirck and sentenced to Randall's Island until discharged by law. Harold Short, a member of the gang, on Monday was held to await the arrival of the Randall Island authorities, from which institution he was out on parole.

The specific charge against the three boys was that of stealing a dozen rolls from the front porch of Officer James Martin on Van Buren street. They were caught in the act by the officer. For some time past the police have been in receipt of numerous complaints of thefts of rolls and milk from front porches during the early morning hours. According to Short, however, this was the first occasion they had even stolen milk or rolls.

All three boys have been in trouble before, but Schermerhorn, according to Judge Schirck and the police, is the leading spirit. He has been in trouble more times than he has fingers and toes. Judge Schirck in sentencing Schermerhorn informed the youth that it was dangerous to have him running loose in the community corrupting the morals of other young boys. As for the two members of his gang they were simply "dubs without any brains."

All three boys are between 15 and 17 years of age.

BRIDGE BILL SAFELY THROUGH ASSEMBLY GOVERNOR EXPECTED TO SIGN IT SOON

"DRYS" DESCEND ON LEGISLATURE

Wheeler, Anderson and Others Fight to Prevent Bill Allowing 3.50 Per Cent Alcoholic Beverages Despite Sweet and Gilett Predictions of Passage.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 16.—Prohibitionists are waging today what appears to be a losing fight against anything stronger than one-half of one per cent beer.

In face of predictions of Senate Majority Leader J. Henry Walters and the leader of the Republican insurgents in the assembly, Colonel Ransom H. Gilett, that the legislation 3.50 per cent of alcohol, "drys," least 3.50 per cent of alcohol, "drys," led by Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the National Anti-Saloon League, are making the last stand in urging the legislators to pass an enforcement act conforming, in practically every detail, to the national Volstead act.

Over night, it developed as one of the outstanding features of the prohibition fight which now has the center of the legislative stage, that Elihu Root, William D. Guthrie and possibly Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and Republican presidential possibility, plan formation of the Personal Liberty League to fight prohibition enforcement measures.

Prominent among the hordes of "drys" at the capital is William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League which the assembly has promised to investigate to ascertain whether its lobbying for prohibition bills have been legal. Mr. Anderson, in a statement, demands that the inquiry be made.

Money Swamps Income Tax Men.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 16.—Weary, harassed government clerks began today to dig themselves out of the avalanche of money which descended upon them during the last day of making income tax returns and initial payments here.

Millionaires and scrub women and opera stars and newsboys combined to make the night a weary one for the collectors. Some of the nation's biggest financiers paid their taxes in person—including Percy Rockefeller, Thomas Lamont, Charles Sabine and others.

John McCormick the tenor, parted with $125,000—thus beating Enrico Caruso, whose assessment was somewhat less.

"It's a penalty for singing so much," said McCormick with a sigh. Galli Curci paid "about" $75,000. Mme. Tetrazzini paid over $4,000 for the first quarter.

The smallest check received was for one cent; the largest for $3,000,000. Checks of more than $1,000,000 from corporations were common. A messenger boy paid $6,500 and a telephone girl $7,500.

Home, N. Y., Flight Planned.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 16.—A giant aeroplane, equipped with powerful Fiat engines and carrying a crew of five men is undergoing its final tests and within a week will be on its way to New York from Rome, according to its inventors. The flight will be over a direct air route from Rome to New York. The plane's sponsors predict it will develop a speed of 250 kilometres, or slightly less than 160 miles an hour.

Joint Union Meeting.

On Wednesday evening, March 17, at 8 o'clock, there will be a joint union meeting at Master's Hall, to be addressed by James L. Adams, of the Plumb plan league. Questions of interest to all workers will be discussed. The committee of Thomas Cornell Lodge, No. 245, R. of L. P. and H. R. Young, invite officers and members of all labor unions to attend.

No Opposition Shown in Lower House to Walton-Van Wagenen Measure and Those Around Capital Are Sure Smith Will Take Favorable Action.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 16.—(Special)—Governor Smith has received the Walton-Van Wagenen bill providing for the appropriation of $420,000 for the completion of the bridge over the Rondout creek between Sleighsburg and Kingston.

The Assembly last night substituted the bill of Senator Walton and the measure went through without opposition.

Governor Smith has ten days within which to either veto or approve the bill. Since the state highway department favors the proposition and deems the improvement a necessity, the impression seems to be unanimous here that the bill will receive executive approval and become a law this year.

The future of the bridge now rests with Governor Smith, who may veto the bill but is not likely to. If the Governor signs the bill the next step will be the awarding of the contract for completing the bridge, but preliminary to this, the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, the only legislative body that now has power to cause delay, must assure the right of way. This has not yet been done but satisfactory progress is understood to have been made.

HOUSE TO CUT DANIELS' REQUEST

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 16.—The big navy recommended by Secretary Daniels will not be authorized this year by the house naval affairs committee.

It has been decided by the committee, which met today to round out its appropriation bill, that instead of the new battleship authorization asked by the secretary there shall be a reduction in pre-war appropriations because of the present condition of the treasury.

Under the parring process the committee has lopped from construction appropriations about $167,000,000, bringing the original total of the bill from $255,000,000 to about $753,000,000. Further cuts are to be made before the bill is to be whittled into shape today and tomorrow and it is predicted that the total asked for will be somewhere near $450,000,000.

It is believed that only one capital battleship will be authorized and it is believed it will have the ordinary complement of destroyers and smaller craft needed to balance a fleet.

Exciting Election.

The election to take place at Rhinebeck today promises to prove one of the most exciting in years. The candidates for the village presidency are Dr. Thomas Sheldon, president of the village government, and John D. Low, who was induced to accept the nomination on the grounds that there would be no opposition as Mr. Sheldon had announced he was not a candidate. After the nomination of Mr. Low, a number of Mr. Sheldon's friends persuaded him to allow his name to be used for the place and he finally consented. A lively fight is anticipated although it will be a friendly one.

DOCKMEN'S STRIKE IS KEENLY FELT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 16.—The longshoremen's strike was felt by ship-owners today when embargoes were placed on all southbound freight shipments by seven coastwise shipping companies. The ship owners also announce an embargo at southern ports of north bound perishable food products.

The strike, which involves 7,500 men, is no nearer settlement today although T. V. O'Connor, international president, is here to direct the longshoremen's fight for higher wages.

SNOW WASTING FAST IN CITY

The huge piles of snow that blocked the streets of the city are gradually disappearing, and here and there patches of old Mother Earth may be seen. On the streets where the board of public works had the snow removed an automobile runs even better than a sleigh. If present weather conditions continue it will be only a matter of a short time before the last of the snow is seen.

While the board of public works has not made public the amount of money the big blizzard cost the city in snow removal it is estimated by those who have made a study of conditions that the city's snow removal bill will amount to over $15,000. But it has been money well spent, and in addition to that the fact stands out that the money so expended was in turn spent with Kingston's merchants.

There are no signs as yet of the melt or creek ice breaking up, and automobiles are still crossing the ice between here and Rinecliff. The crossing is perfectly safe as yet, as the ice is firm and of good thickness. The heavy current running in both river and creek is gradually wasting the ice away, and river men believe that the weather continues moderate it will only be a short time before the ferry transport will resume trips. The ice is too thick yet for an attempt to be made to break a channel through for the ferry.

COLLEGE CHOIR AT HOLY CROSS

Well Known Musical Organization to Visit Kingston on Palm Sunday Afternoon—Other Musical Events at Holy Cross.

Father Gregory Mabry, rector of Holy Cross Church, has announced a coming musical treat for Kingston, for the well known choir of St. Stephen's College is to visit his church on Palm Sunday to sing Gounod's famous devotional oratorio "Gallia." They will bring thirty voices, including their soloists, their own organist and their director.

The master of the choir, the Rev. Catharine Fowler, is one of the best known students and exponents of religious music in America, having studied for many years the best that there is of ecclesiastical music. He was for some time the canon precentor and master of the choir in St. Louis Cathedral in Portland, Maine, but became so devoted to the Gregorian music that he accepted his present situation at St. Stephen's in 1917.

BLOUSE IN FAVOR

Garment Retains Popularity With Majority of Women.

Vast Array of Materials Including Silks, Laces, Velvets, Metallics, Cloths, Chiffons, Crepes.

Much interest is shown in blouses, and never were there more varied and delectable models displayed than those now on view.

Probably this is partly due to the advent of the chemise blouse, Russian blouse, smock, whatever, one chooses to call the blouse falling outside the skirt.

These garments to be worn outside the skirt seem to have reacted upon the regulation models, to be tucked inside the skirt, and both are alluring enough to tempt women into extravagant buying.

The vogue of the separate skirt, a by-product of the popularity of the chemise blouse, works round in a circle to complement the enthusiasm over the blouse; and so it goes.

There is no end to the different materials used for these blouses—silks, laces, velvet, metallic cloth, chiffon, crepe. Often one sees a blouse of velvet or crepe drawn into a deep girdle of Chinese or Japanese embroidery or metallic cloth.

Another charming blouse is a long model of black Salome velvet, opening over a blue and silver waistcoat. The neck is high and fastens with several buttons to the upper part of the opening. There is a girdle of silver inset with imitation sapphires. There are two fousces of the black velvet.

One of the new French designs recently displayed was a straight chemise blouse of bright blue Jersey print.

ed in violet and black. There was a narrow jet, girdle, and the edges of the garment were outlined with narrow black silk fringe.

A blouse which would answer admirably for evening wear is of white crepe over green silk. The bodice is made in surplice effect, the right side crossing over to the left, where it is caught by a large flower at the waistline. A hip extender is placed at the sides of the bodice where the silk is joined to a deep band of silver lace which encircles the lower part of the blouse. Silver lace also forms the short sleeves and fills in the V at back and front.

Equally charming is a blouse of pale pink silk. The silk forms the bodice and short sleeves which are cut in one. To the lower part of the bodice are attached two fousces of silver lace—falling in form of cascade at the left side.

MAKE HANDBAG YOURSELF

Black Velvet or an Old Piece of Seal-skin, With Beads, Used to Advantage.

Some bags look exactly right with one costume, or perhaps with two, but it's a big task to choose a bag which will strike the right note for every costume.

Such a bag may be made at home with little difficulty. Black velvet, or, if one is lucky enough to have an old seal-skin cap or collar, seal-skin can be shaped into an odd, sentimental bag. Jet beads on silk foundation may be applied on the seal or velvet in two bands. A tassel of the same beads enliven the lower part of the bag, while four chains of jet beads brought together with a small ring from which they lead to a larger wrist band, conclude the bag. An ordinary ring may be bought at any shop and bound with silk, covered with beads, to form this wrist band.—Betty Brown.

KILLS OLIVE POISON

Experts Find Serum to Combat Botulinus Bacillus.

Experiments in Laboratories of University of Illinois Meet With Success.

Champaign, Ill.—The bacillus botulinus is the poison which caused the death of five persons in Detroit several months ago has been isolated by Dr. Robert Graham of the department of animal pathology at the University of Illinois.

A different type of bacillus botulinus was associated with the olives in Detroit which caused the food poisoning there. Similar experiments have been reported by bacteriologists at Stanford university in California, as well as by Belgian scientists, said Dr. Graham. "It is interesting, however, the first time this particular variety of bacillus botulinus has been discovered in the Mississippi valley."

A serum protective against the type of poisoning in the olives as well as other types is being prepared at the university of animal pathology. The university's interest in botulinus is not an unusual one, yet the fact that in recent years the disease has been more common to men is decidedly noteworthy.

TROUSERS FOR PARIS WOMEN

Medicine Show Daring Oriental Sort of Lustrous Gold and Silver Tissues.

Paris, France.—During oriental sort of lustrous gold and silver tissues are being shown in the shops of the department of animal pathology at the University of Illinois.

Recent rumors that tight lacing was to be removed to favor have proved to be erroneous. In fact, little if any lacing will be needed next summer.

The length of winter dresses being shown is about the same as that worn in winter last fall, but the hem is narrower. Bright textures will appear in many of the most popular creases and gathered materials will be featured by some of the most famous designers. One of the most popular models will show a blouse effect and a tight waist.

MEXICO TO MAKE OWN GUNS

Will Turn Out Cannon on Formula Perfected by Two Native Army Engineers.

Mexico City.—Mexico, which has found it necessary to import its artillery for years, expects soon to manufacture its own field pieces. Two Mexican army engineers have perfected a formula for tempering steel for cannon, and when the production of these pieces is begun in the national arsenal it is anticipated the first guns will be turned out.

HER RUSE SAVES FATHER

Italian Girl Takes Blame for Murder in Pennsylvania as Part of Plan.

Bradford, Pa.—Margaret Dico, 17, can marry any one of a score or more of men. She has turned down proposals galore.

The little Italian girl won the hearts of the youths of her own people by the ruse in which she protected her father from the clutches of the law.

Margaret's father was accused of killing a man but was at once freed when his daughter confessed that she fired the bullet. When her dad was kept in jail Margaret admitted that her confession was a lie and was given only to allow her father time to get away. There was nothing for the authorities to do but free the girl and forget the father.

"I'm too young to marry," she told all listeners for her part.

Improved Stereopticon.

A recent development of the stereopticon operates automatically, showing upon a screen a certain number of lantern slide views, usually 40, but 100 or 200 or more by special adaptation. The apparatus includes a 1,000 candle power incandescent lamp, condensing and objective lenses, and a small motor to be connected to a lamp socket on either a direct or alternating current circuit. The machine shifts the slides automatically, allowing each picture to remain on the screen 12 seconds before being replaced by the next. The outfit with screen, slides, etc., packs into a suitcase, and is especially fitted to enable the traveling salesman to show goods by picture, though also adapted for educational displays, home entertainment and a great variety of other purposes.

Valuable Tree.

A giant laurel tree has been found by the Connecticut Forest Service and the timber sold for $1,000. It was known as Bell's tree and yielded 17,000 superlative feet of timber in five huge logs and the logging costs amounted to $200. The net savings came to twelve feet 6 inches per 100 super feet. Had the tree been smaller a higher price would have been realized, as few saw millers cared to handle it. This giant of the forest was offered in a timber-grove for $20 on the stump, being at the rate of less than 30 cents per super foot, twelve years old.

DEVELOPING OUR BIG ASSET.

One phase of summer resort development that has received too little attention from the community in general is the effect of such development on our largest industry outside the resort business itself, and the indirect effect this will have on business prosperity. Any increase in population must inevitably result in a proportionate increase in the amount of food consumed. Fresh fruit, vegetables, eggs and milk are demanded by summer tourists and boarders and any increase in the summer population must result in an increased consumption of these home products. This is no theory but a fact demonstrated by conditions that already exist every summer when, during the Mohonk and Minnewaska season, the price of eggs is higher in New Paltz than it is in New York. The boarder or tourist is a consumer, not, for the time being, at least, a producer. The great loss that food producers complain of is the cost of the transportation and distribution, the cost of getting the product into the hands (or the stomachs) of the consumers. A development of our resort region would reverse the usual order of things and bring the consumer to the producer, to the great benefit to both, especially of the latter.

One of the charms of the Catskill-Shawangunk resort region is that it is in the midst of the finest fruit and berry growing area in America, where there is not only scenery to please the eye, but food to please the palate. It is not, like so many scenic resorts, so far from farms, orchards and gardens that every meal must be a demonstration of what the can do to sustain life. Here are conditions working together for the benefit of all concerned, if properly developed on sound business principles.

To sum up: More tourists and boarders make a larger home market for farm products, increasing the profits of the farmers. Fresh farm products are an inducement to tourists and boarders. The more tourists we have the more money resort owners and business men will make from their trade and the more they will have to spend. The better prices farmers obtain for their products the more money they will have to spend with the merchants. Nobody is harmed. Everybody is benefited. Prosperity is promoted and the tourists save money by utilizing the finest playground in the East, the resort region nearest and most accessible to the largest city in America.

Co-operative effort on the part of every line of business and production in this region is required to call the attention of the millions of rest and pleasure seekers to the fact that the Catskill-Shawangunk region exists, that, within half a day's run from New York city, there is to be found 500 square miles of mountains, river and lake country, threaded with good roads, affording a variety of scenery nowhere excelled and well equipped with hotels and boarding houses to suit all tastes and pocketbooks. While other localities, far more remote and with only a fraction of the attractions we have, are known to the pleasure seeker through co-operative advertising, the much more attractive and accessible Catskill-Shawangunk area seems to have been forgotten because, like Rip Van Winkle, those who have meant to gain have been asleep.

BLUE LAWS RELAXED.

The New Jersey Methodist Episcopal Conference, by a majority vote, has recommended the elimination of the provision of its Book of Discipline which forbids dancing, theatre-going, games of chance, card-playing, etc., as of "questionable moral tendency," and has offered as a substitute merely an appeal for "a thoughtful and instructed conscience as to the choice of amusements on the part of the church and church members." Rev. Dr. Marshall, who introduced the resolution calling for the change, said in support of it:

"Everybody knows the drastic paragraph of the Discipline is not being followed, so why not make a substitute as a solution?" According to the published account, the majority of the Conference agreed with him that an appeal to conscience is better than a "blue law" which has become a dead letter.

While most outside observers will be of the opinion that the action is wise and the reasons given convincing, there will be regret that these reformers did not question the wisdom of such prohibitions in the first place, pointing out that the amusements named are not harmful in themselves but only become so by their abuse, and that abuse consists largely in excessive gratification involving the neglect of the serious duties and important employments of life. Abuse of amusements or recreations by the relatively few is not and never was a good reason for seeking to deny them to all.

OWNER TO RUN KINGSTON HOTEL

On April 1st Mrs. Elizabeth Cronk will take over the Kingston Hotel on Crown street again, which property she owns. Many improvements are to be made to the exterior and interior to make it more modern. The Kingston Hotel has been a popular hostelry for over seventy-five years for Ulster county people. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Satterlee, who have been conducting the hotel for about two years will move to Stone Ridge where they own a hotel which they closed before coming to the Kingston Hotel. Old residents will remember the hotel when it was known as Pardee's hotel, and later when Solomon Brown ran it. He was succeeded by Martin Hauver, who in turn was followed by Newton Baldwin. Frank Cronk, husband of Mrs. Cronk, bought the property from William Lounsbery about 30 years ago, and after Mr. Cronk's death Mrs. Cronk managed it. Later Leslie R. Flowers, George W. Palmer and Louis Schoenfeld, each conducted the hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Satterlee succeeding Mr. Schoenfeld. The hotel has been particularly a favorite stopping place for farmers because of its large yard and barn which owners of horses could utilize, there being no trolley tracks on the street.

AT THE THEATERS.

"Hitchy Koo" Tonight—Pauline Frederick at Keene's.

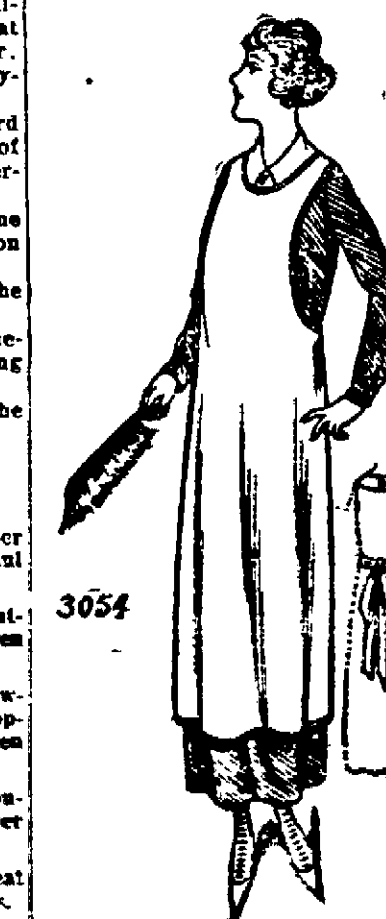

The biggest crowd that has turned out for a road attraction since before the war is expected at the Kingston Opera House tonight when Raymond Hitchcock and Martin Sampter present "Hitchy Koo," the famous musical comedy revue that comes direct from a run of two solid years in New York with the original production, scenery and costumes guaranteed absolutely intact. The play starts at 8 o'clock sharp.

The struggle between mother-love, self-sacrifice and revenge furnishes the main dramatic scenes in Pauline Frederick's unusual photoplay, "Bonds of Love," which will be presented at Keene's tonight in addition to the famous Prince Ilma Quartet. Mrs. Joe Martin, the world's most comical monkey, with the funny licks will be an added attraction. Tomorrow Gladys Rockwell in a drama of the slums, of society, of love and romance will be at Keene's.

Charles Ray in "Hay-foot, Straw-foot," will be shown at the Auditorium tonight. It is a typical rube photoplay and played in the usual inimitable style of the only actor who has ever been able to characterize rube parts so perfectly. Billy West comedy and Hearst News weekly, Wednesday William Farnum in "The Lone Star Ranger" will make the Auditorium hum with the tremendous crowds who want to see a return of this great Zane Grey story.

Eugene O'Brien in "The Perfect Lover," has been secured for a return engagement at the Kingston Opera House tomorrow. There has been so many requests handed in at the box office for this great production that Manager Gildersleeve has secured a date for another showing. "The Perfect Lover" is the story of an artist, a worshipper of beauty. He becomes the rage among the smart set in New York. No woman can resist his charms. He is "the perfect lover." What happens to him proves a breezy, thrilling story of love, art and intrigue. Performances will be given at 2:30, 7 and 9 o'clock.

FIFTY THOUSAND BAPTIST SPEAKERS

By Telegram to The Freeman
New York, March 16.—Adopting the methods of the wartime Liberty Loan drives, fifty thousand of the most forceful speakers of the Baptist denomination now are being organized in all parts of the country as the Baptist Minute Men and Women to present the aims of the campaign for $100,000,000 which the New World Movement of northern Baptists is planning to wage April 25 to May 2. This announcement was made today by H. D. Dulmage, secretary at Baptist headquarters, 276 Fifth avenue.

According to present program every state, every town and every church in every town will be prepared with a speaker on some phase of the campaign for every church gathering beginning March 14. The roster of speakers is made up of the most prominent business and professional men of the churches, Mr. Dulmage said, and will include a large number of speakers who have had wide experience in Liberty Loan, Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross drives during the war. What is particularly significant, is that fully one-third of the speakers will be women.

After-the-Flu Clinic

There will be held at the court house on Friday, March 26, another of the very valuable and evidently greatly appreciated "after-the-flu" clinics for the benefit of the people of Kingston and immediate vicinity. The clinic will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. with special nurses in attendance, and with Dr. Stanley Wang as special examining physician.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, March 16.—Mrs. Andrew M. Taylor and Miss Minnie Hotelling who have been the guests of relatives in Highland have returned to their home.

Mrs. Estella Freer who has been assisting Miss Emma Cure on Broadway, has returned home. Miss Cure is able to be about the house again.

Thomas Tucker of Broadway is in New York city on business.

The annual conference supper of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will be held Tuesday, March 23, in the chapel. An entertainment will be held at 8 o'clock at which time the reports of the divisions will be given.

A great many people in Port Ewen did not patronize the automobile stages but those that did never missed anything any more than the tie-up for over six weeks. It is hoped the roads will soon be in condition that the stages will be on their routes.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wurtz Taylor and son, Donald W., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Hotelling on Broadway. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have purchased a house here and will move from Highland as soon as the house is vacated.

The Missionary Society of the Reformed Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary Beckwith on Hasbrouck street Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Anna Meade who has been the guest of Mrs. George W. Shultis on Broadway has returned to her home in Woodstock.

MENTAL CLINIC

At 74 John Street on March 19 With Specialist Present.

Dr. Maurice C. Ashley, superintendent of the Middletown State Hospital, announces that the next session of the free clinic for nervous and mental disorders will be held at 74 John street, Kingston, on March 19, from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 3 p. m.

Any person who desires to attend the session for consultation, information and advice as to his or her mental health, or to the mental health of a friend or relative is cordially invited to do so.

A specialist from the hospital, will be present to advise and consult with all who desire to see him.

Paroled patients are urged to report to the social worker, Miss Hurley, at the clinic also.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, March 15.—E. M. Short of Kingston spent several days the past week with his brother, S. L. Short.

There will be preaching services in the church Wednesday evening, March 17.

Mrs. Clarence Short spent Thursday last with Mrs. F. B. Happy.

School opened on Monday after a two weeks' vacation owing to the illness of the teacher's sister.

DeWitt Shultis of May Brook visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Shultis recently.

All are sorry to learn that August DeLong, who underwent an operation, is not as well at present.

B. P. Shultis attended the box social at Shady Friday night.

Miss Hilda Short is visiting relative in Newburgh, N. Y.

SYMPHONY ARTISTS CHARMED HEARERS

Miss Barbour, Orchestra led by Muller and Harry Dodge All Came in For Generous Applause—Laurent Coming in April.

The first symphony orchestra concert of the seventh season of the orchestra's existence, given at the Kingston Opera House Monday evening, proved to be in many ways the most delightful concert yet given by the local orchestra.

Each season sees a marked improvement in the orchestra, under the artistic, efficient and painstaking conducting of George H. Muller, who is chiefly responsible for Kingston having such an orchestra. Monday evening's concert gave the most complete evidence of the success achieved thus far by the orchestra.

It is also apparent that the audiences are almost as much of a credit to Kingston as is the orchestra. Mrs. Hadley, nee Miss Inez Barbour, the soloist Monday evening, made special mention of the audience as being remarkably sympathetic, intelligent and inspiring.

Much care is also taken in the forming of the program for these symphony concerts. It was no mere chance that Haydn was the first composer on the program Monday evening, and Beethoven the last. Haydn is known throughout the musical world as "The father of the symphonic form," while to Beethoven belongs the honor of having brought this form to its greatest perfection.

The simple beauty of the pure music of the Haydn Symphony stood out in marked contrast to the compelling, powerful Egmunt Overture, with its passage of colossal beauty such as only Beethoven has accomplished orchestrally.

With the increase of strings in the orchestra, the balance of tone was decidedly improved. Throughout the entire symphony, in the beautiful harmonies of the opening "Adagio," followed by the swiftly flowing "Vivace-allegro," of the first movement; the melodic beauty of the "Adagio Cantabile," the tripping, graceful "Allegretto-minuetto;" and the rich instrumentation of the final "Vivace," the orchestra showed plainly the improvement made in the last year. There was cleaner playing; finer shading; better tonality; and throughout a much more mature appreciation and therefore interpretation of the music by the orchestral members, themselves. It was pleasing alike to musician and music lover for it was well done.

Leo F. Herbert, manager of the Symphony Society, had several announcements to make at the concert. He called attention to the April concert at which time Marie Laurent will surely appear; to the last of the popular concerts to be given by the orchestra at the Keeney theater on Sunday, March 28, and thanked the audience for their patronage. While it was a matter of sincere regret that the orchestra was unable to accompany Miss Barbour in the Carmen number, owing to the fact that the publisher failed to send all of the orchestral parts for that accompaniment, still there was real compensation in the fact that she sang one of Henry Hadley's songs, "Serenade," with the orchestra, having brought with her the orchestral parts to this charming song not before heard with an orchestra. There were two egregious blunders in the otherwise fine program and they were due to the general upheaval arising from the postponement of the concert, for the programs were almost completed as to printing when the board of education made the sudden ruling which necessitated the change of all of the Symphony Society's plans. Hence the omission of the name of Harry P. Dodge, accompanist for the soloist, who paid him a very sincere and well deserved compliment upon the rare excellence of his accompanying, so well known and already appreciated by his Kingston friends. Hence also the description of the number to be sung by Laurent, instead of the Blue number which Miss Barbour sang.

Miss Barbour at once won the admiration and regard of her audience in her truly artistic singing of "Michael's Song" from "Carmen." Her voice is fine, true of good range, and always musical in quality for she is too thoroughly an artist to produce any of the distressing forced tones so often heard. Her interpretation of the music she sings is satisfying, and she possesses that charm of manner that breathes as does her whole performance, the hall mark of fineness in the best sense of that word.

While it was disappointing not to have heard her sing this number with the orchestra, still Mr. Dodge's accompanying fully reconciled the audience. Of course, all felt regret that the comparative smallness of the stage necessitated so much moving about in order to have the place for the accompaniment and then to have it returned to its place behind the scenery. That certainly did not add to the "symphonic atmosphere" one bit.

After delighting the audience with the Carmen number, Mrs. Barbour sang the Serenade by Hadley, with orchestral accompaniment, mentioned above and it proved to be one of the most delightful numbers on the program, so full of grace was it. This was followed by the group of songs; the quietly charming Haydn number, "Mermaid's Song," which the artist sang with marked grace; Brahms' "Nightingale," and "Serenade," which was another particularly delightful song, delightfully and artistically sung. The quality of Miss Barbour's voice seemed especially adapted to the author's last evening. The audience showed their appreciation of her singing by enthusiastic applause.

The "Nell Goya Suite," by Gounod, including the charming "Country Dance," the graceful "Pastoral Dance," and the delicate, joyous "Merry-makers' Dance," with the brilliance of modern orchestration was played admirably by the orchestra.

Mr. Andrews brought back many valuable animal specimens, which will be placed in the Asiatic Hall of the Museum of Natural History, New York.

Ruth Vail Randall

A beautiful portrait of Ruth Randall, beautiful divorcee who shot and killed Captain Clifford Beyer, her lover, and then killed herself in her apartment in Chicago. She told friends, it is said, to whom she presented copies of this picture that she painted it herself. It has since appeared in calendars and advertisements. The terrible tragedy and the truthfulness of Ruth Randall's diary has caused quite a sensation throughout the country.

FORTUNES IN RUBBER

Industry has been revolutionized by the great war. The world demands greater production and better quality products, and is willing to pay any price to procure them. There is no other country so fitted to fill the demands of trade as America—but we must have larger factories in order to increase the supply of finished products. To build factories requires capital and as the banks are already doing all that they can for industry we must go to the people for finance and pay a liberal price for it.

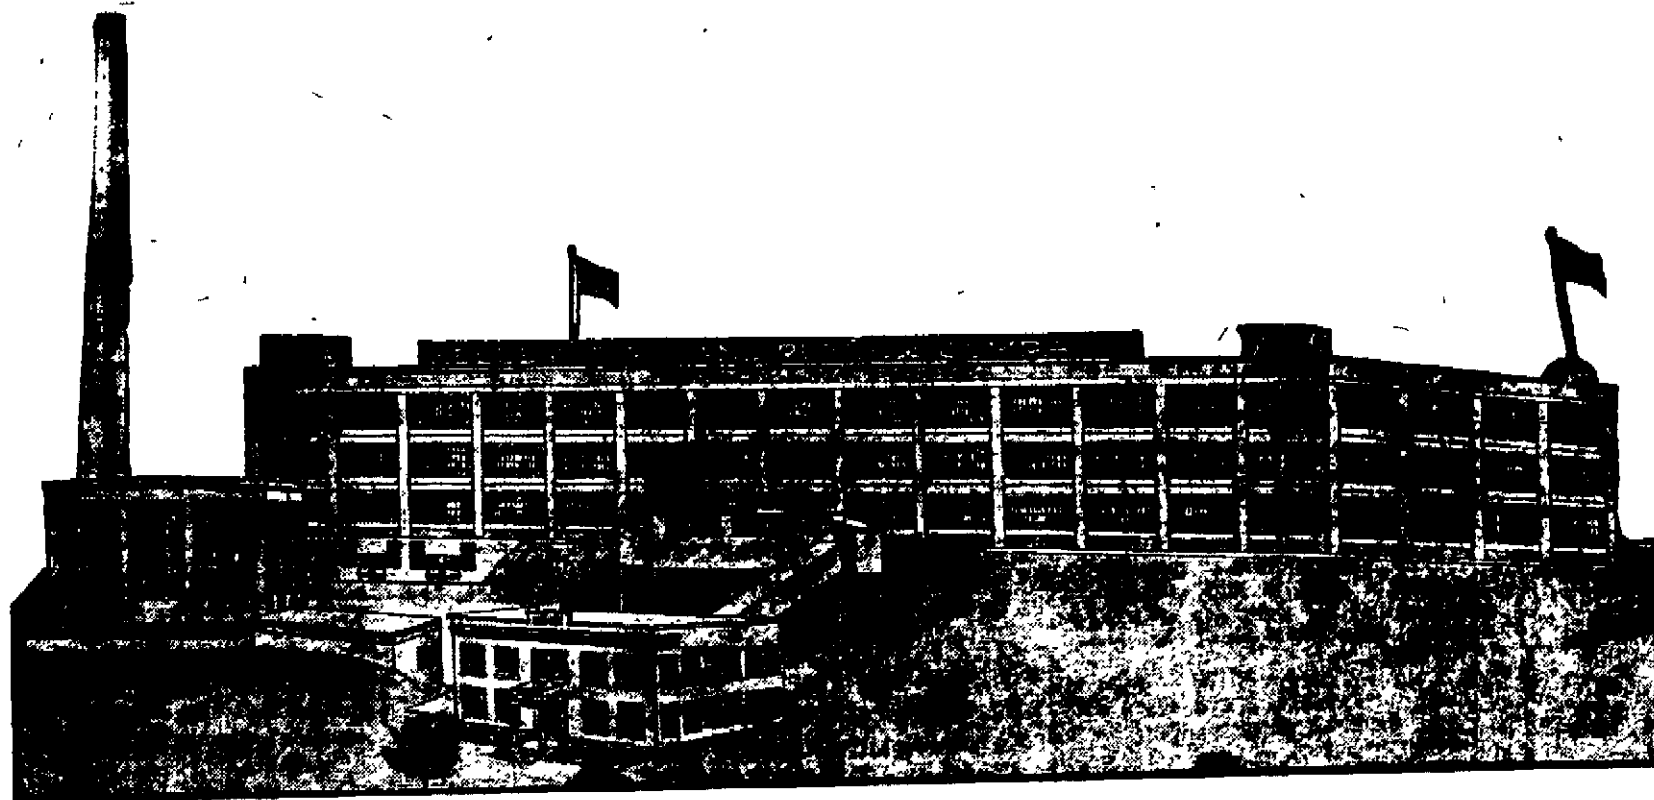

A HARVEST FOR INVESTORS

The world war which worked so many other great changes, brought about an increase in the investor class from a few hundred thousands to several millions in number. People who never knew what thrift was are now fortunate owners of Liberty Bonds and other securities. They now have an opportunity of subscribing to a stock that may properly be described as of phenomenal promise. They can now buy it at a price that allows them to secure ten, twenty or thirty shares for a relatively small outlay, and they have the prospect of seeing their investment increased in value as other rubber stocks have done until it is worth many times the original investment.

History of Company

Since organization one year ago the company has largely financed itself without recourse to professional money lenders and by so doing are happily in a sound financial condition today. The company owns outright a large section of land on the main line of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad in West Haven, Conn., which is free from mortgages or other incumbrances. It has opened twenty sales and service stations in New England, and Broadway, New York, and is now selling Kelley "K" Tread Tires and Kelley Blue Tubes to the trade in sufficient quantity to pay running expenses and show substantial profit besides.

Ground has been broken for our new model Tire Factory and contracts have been let for its erection. It is expected that the plant will be completed and in operation by late Spring. Orders have been given for $200,000 worth of machinery and equipment, one-third of the purchase price being paid in advance.

Fortunes Have Been Made By Foresighted Investors in New Enterprises

They "got in on the ground floor" while others looked on and feared the outcome. It is almost impossible to trace the enormous profits received on the dollar of the original investor in the following inventions. Here are a few of the available figures that are reliable as far as we are able to ascertain:

NO NEW COMPANY CAN BE GUARANTEED OF SUCCESS

You can get 4 per cent in savings banks or in government bonds. At the same time they do not offer opportunities in such enormous profits as are frequently made by investors in new manufacturing enterprises, as a few examples which may be mentioned—for instance:

Irving Richmond of New York and Edward Duggan of East Orange were home for over Sunday.

William L. Hoonbeck has been assisting at the Clark coal yards the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Carman are home from New Haven. Mr. Carman will remain for a few weeks on account of his health.

William Bradford suffered a stroke of apoplexy on Saturday and his condition was considered serious.

William H. Deyo, 2nd, of New York has been spending the past week with his mother and sister at Napanoch.

STELLE WON

With Sabres At College Fencing Tournament.

In Sunday's New York Sun and Herald appears an account of the fencing victory won by Columbia fencers over the Yale fencers at New Haven Saturday night. A picture of the winning Columbia team, of which Edward T. Stelle of this city is a member, also appears in The Sun. Young Stelle will be remembered by many of the high school pupils, having graduated from Kingston high school.

Besides the picture of the winning Columbia team a very interesting account of the Columbia victory appears. The summary of the match follows:

Foils—Walker, Yale, defeated Foster, Columbia, 8 to 5; Leicester, Yale, defeated Bencoe, Columbia, 8 to 5; Bloomer, Columbia, defeated Bishop, Yale, 8 to 3; Foster, Columbia, defeated Leicester, Yale, 8 to 6; Bencoe, Columbia, defeated Bishop, Yale, 7 to 5; Bloomer, Columbia, defeated Walker, Yale, 8 to 6; Foster, Columbia, defeated Bishop, Yale, 8 to 6; Bencoe, Columbia, defeated Walker, Yale, 8 to 7; Bloomer, Columbia, defeated Leicester, Yale, 11 to 10, in extra period.

Sabres—Stelle, Columbia, defeated Miles, Yale, 7 to 5; Reeves, Columbia, defeated Smith, Yale, 7 to 3; Stelle, Columbia, defeated Smith, Yale, 10 to 8; Miles, Yale, defeated Reeves, Columbia, 7 to 5.

Epees—Plimley, Yale, defeated Bloomer, Columbia, in two minutes.

Did Noah Hide in It?

Says the Rhinebeck Gazette:

The improvised white-covered passenger sleigh, which has proved such a convenience to those travelling between this village and the New York Central station during the blizzard weeks of the winter, has been the objects of many jokes and jibes. Early in its career it was christened the prairie schooner, while some called it the ark. It has been looked upon with wonder by strangers and only on Wednesday a passenger was heard to remark that he had traveled through Arizona, New Mexico and Texas as well as many out of the way places of the earth and never seen anything like it.

Many take a trip to Rhinecliff and back merely to be able to tell their grandchildren, if they ever have any, of this strange wonder. Pictures have been taken of it and it has taken its place as one of the winter attractions of the town. Be it a schooner, ark, or what not, it has served the public well, and without it, it would have been a case of walk to the station or remain at home. It will long be remembered for its faithful service to a marooned people.

ACCORD.

Accord, March 15.—Several of our progressive farmers attended the institute at Kerhonkson the past week.

Charles Anderson shipped another car of hay Wednesday.

A number from this place attended the entertainment at Melcham's Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McNair are spending some time with Mrs. McNair's father at Cherrytown. He is reported to be very ill.

First Class Private Alex Halperin of New York city is enjoying a leave of absence with his uncle, Benjamin Halperin.

 A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent

A Way to Dainty Teeth

To Safer, Whiter, Filmless Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

See How Teeth Glisten When the Film is Gone

The results of Pepsodent show clearly in white, glistening teeth. You can see them everywhere, for a million folks now employ it. You can see them on your own teeth when you remove the film. And that's the purpose of this ten-day test.

Based on Pepsin
 Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The purpose of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

But pepsin must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. So pepsin long seemed impossible.

What science has now done is to invent a harmless activating method. That method is employed in Pepsodent. The result is a tooth paste which will do what nothing else has done. And five years of tests seem to clearly prove that it opens a new dental era.

Pepsodent has been submitted to every form of clinical and laboratory test. Dentists everywhere have watched its effects and now urge its daily use. This week we offer a test to you, and we ask you to accept it.

Look in Ten Days
 We urge this test for your sake and your children's sake. Children have most to gain from cleaner, safer teeth. Try to avoid the troubles we have had.

Present this coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Use like any tooth paste. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

A book comes with the sample tube, explaining the results. Learn the reason for them. Compare them with the results of old methods. Then let your own good sense decide what method to employ.

This test is of lifetime importance, both to you and yours. It has shown at least a million people the way to whiter, safer teeth. Someone in your home should make it. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

Do you sing in your bath?

Have you that feeling in the morning of being born again? This is a joy accorded only to perfect health. Racing blood and high spirits are two results of exercise, regular living and regular bowel evacuations.

By an entirely new principle Nujol will keep the poisonous waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only bearing Nujol trade mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet, "Thirty Feet of Danger."

A New Method of Treating an Old Complaint

Film on Teeth Is What Wrecks Them

Dental science has found that most tooth troubles are due to a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue.

That film clings to the teeth. It gets between the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush doesn't end it. The ordinary dentifrice cannot dissolve it. So its damage is unceasing.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of many other troubles, local and internal.

That is why brushed teeth discolor and decay. Why tartar forms and pyorrhea starts. You may remove the debris, but the real cause of tooth troubles—the clinging film—is largely left to do its damage.

Now dental science has found a way to combat that film, after years of searching. We ask you to accept a ten-day test and see the results for yourself.

HOUSE SEEKS BONUS MONEY

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, March 16.—Readjustment of the entire system of taxation may be the result of the house ways and means committee's effort to provide sufficient money to pay bonus to ex-service men, according to members of the committee who meet every day to form a policy on the question.

"I feel it would be necessary for this congress to increase taxation to raise the money for the payment of a soldiers' bonus," said Representative Kitchen. "The boys wish to have the money raised by taxing the larger incomes."

Chairman Fordney of the committee has held that the flotation of a bond issue to raise the money would be possible.

"A former Secretary of the Treasury suggested the flotation of a bond issue to reduce taxation," Fordney said. "If it is possible to float a bond issue to reduce taxes, it is certainly possible to float one to pay the soldier boys a bonus."

When the committee takes up the question of taxation to raise the money plans of the Republican leadership to adjust the present tax code with its excess profits taxes will be gone over. It will be impossible to adjust the system of taxes to pay the bonus without taking into account the proposed readjustment of taxes for current expenses announced recently by Senator Watson of the senate finance committee, according to the leaders.

Several systems of taxation will be considered. One is that of a stamp check on checks, bills of sale, drafts, deeds and stock transfers. The other tax on all sales of a general nature, increase in the tobacco tax and the enlargement of the scope of luxury taxes.

The committee will hear representatives of the American Legion if they present a plan by which the money might be raised. Chairman Fordney announced. The legion plans a meeting of the executive committee here next week to discuss the matter.

DIDN'T FEAZE THE PROFESSOR

Snake Expert Got Out of Rather Tight Fix in a Somewhat Clever Manner.

There is a certain professor of natural history who delights in propounding catch questions to his class, and one young fellow, who had been caught by one, determined to get even. At the next class, therefore, he said gravely:

"Professor, you have made a special study of snakes, have you not?"

"Yes, I think I am fairly well informed as to that branch," the professor responded.

"Then, professor, you can undoubtedly inform me on a point which, while doubtless simple, puzzles me. May I ask you a question?"

The professor began to feel uneasy, but there was nothing to reply but "yes."

"Then, sir, what I desire to know is, where does a snake's tail begin?" the young fellow asked gravely.

The professor was silent for a moment, and a titter began to run over the room, which increased to a roar as the professor replied calmly:

"That is quite simple; it begins at the end of the snake which is not the head."

WILL TUNNEL UNDER STRAIT

Japanese Authorities Said to Have Decided Upon Engineering Feat of Magnitude.

Several months ago announcement was made that the imperial government railways of Japan intended to build a tunnel under the Shimoda strait. This strait separates the main island of the Japanese group, Honshu, from the smaller island of Kiu-shu at the south. It is now crossed by a car ferry, which is rapidly becoming insufficient to meet the demands that are made upon it. Two years are to be spent in studying the geological formation of the sea bed in the strait and in drafting of the general plan of work in preparation for the actual undertaking of tunneling, so that the real work will not commence until 1921. Engineers and workmen will be sent to America and Europe to make a study of what has been achieved in these countries in the way of tunnel engineering. The line is to be seven miles long, one mile of which will be entirely under the sea. The approximate cost of the undertaking will be about $10,000,000 and the work is expected to be completed in 1923.—Scientific American.

What's in a Number? An aero squadron, preparatory to the start for the front, was being initiated again into the mysteries of close-order drill. While most of the men knew every nut, bolt and square inch of canvas on the planes, they were more than busy about the forgotten details of their apprenticeship days in the army.

"Stand right!" bellowed the commanding officer.

The majority of the squadron managed to get there somehow or other, but No. 2, rear rank, fourth squad, was totally lost. He maneuvered aimlessly about the field for a time, trying to find his place, and finally walked into the arms of the captain.

"Here you, where do you belong?"

"The back stepped out of his frame. 'No, 26458, sir,' he answered."

COLLEGE MEN STUDY HARDER

Is the American college student reversing the time-honored tradition and letting his studies interfere with his college life?

The Interchurch World Movement says "yes." Reports received by the movement in connection with a nation-wide survey of education indicate that young men in colleges have settled down to work.

The renaissance of work as a college ideal is said to result from the influence of the war veterans scattered through our colleges. These young men have passed through the sobering experience of war. They have traveled and come in contact with different types of people. They have benefited by the discipline of military education. And in the process they have grown up. The college man has supplanted the college boy, and he is a man who feels that he must make up for the years lost in camp and field by good hard plugging.

The Interchurch Movement sees in these veterans promising material from which to recruit the hundred thousand trained workers, lay and clerical, that will be needed by Protestant Churches during the next five years for work at home and abroad.

Exhibiting at the Independent Artists' Show in New York, Ella Modrakowska, noted painter and sculptress, has gone into a new form of reproducing her subjects. She has on her shoulder a likeness of Enrico Caruso.

Small Girl's Criticism

Little five-year-old Lois had been told not to be in such a hurry when she put away her playthings, to take a little more care and pack them straight. One evening her grandma was taking her home after dark. As they were walking along the street lights were turned on. She looked up and asked: "Grandma, who turned all of those lights on at once?" On being told a man at the electric light plant turned them on, she said: "Well, then, who turns on all the lights in the sky?" Grandma told her God did that. Noticing that the new moon was tilted at a different angle from what she had noticed before, she said rather disgustedly: "Well, I wish God would take just a little more time when he turns on the lights and turn that moon on straight while he is about it."

The Half-Dollar Rare

Ever since the news that a silver half-dollar of 1853 brought $2,500 was published throughout the country a few years ago, there has been a great misconception as to this coin than any other ever struck by the United States mint. This arises from the fact that there are two kinds of half-dollars of 1853. The rare variety has no arrows at the dates and there is no mark on its reverse.

Only two specimens of this coin are known to be in existence. Half dollars of 1853 with arrows at date and emeralds on the reverses are very numerous, however, and they have frequently dashed the hopes of holders who were unfamiliar with the distinction between the two varieties of the coin.

A Passenger's Observation

"We have no army of the unemployed."

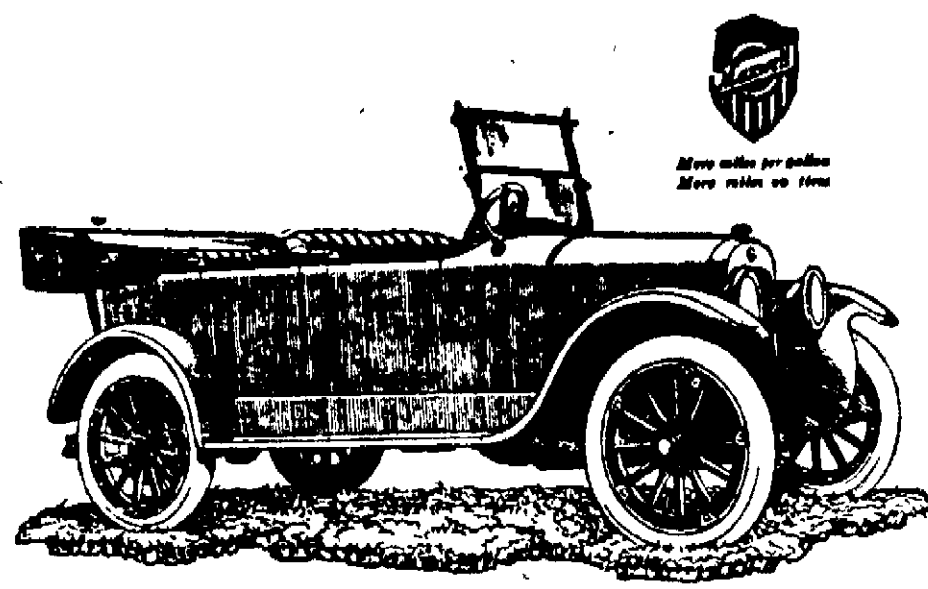

"I don't know," rejoined Mr. Growder. "After watching a few of the beggars who have come along in connection with various kinds of work, I have concluded that we have a large number in a state of unemployment. The difference is that they get paid for it."

Meddles of Ancient Days

The needles that have come down to us from ancient Egypt are very curious, but it is certain that their needles must have been made to make the delicate embroidery produced by these people. Judging by the descriptions of embroidery in flower, the Greeks also must have had very fine needles.

Scott Worth Remembering

In 1793, on the twenty-fourth of January, Samuel F. B. Morse gave his first demonstration of the code of dots and dashes used in telegraphing and now known as the Morse code.

Steels

Make the Maxwell Thrifty

SEVERAL million dollars have been expended to provide more elegance, more refinement, more comfort to the current Maxwells. It is in ever so many ways a superior appearing car; superior, too, in action.

But not a single pound of weight has been added to burden the work of its great engine!

Therefore, despite the many processes of improvement, it doesn't cost a penny more to run a Maxwell than it did a year ago.

The underlying principle of every Maxwell is to give economic transportation.

This means light weight. But it means strong steels, as well.

It is no easy trick to provide both lightness and strength in metal. Such a rare combination means high cost steels.

And you would find, if you compared a Maxwell with any car, that it equaled that car pound for pound in fine metals.

How such steels affect your pocketbook is obvious.

1. They are light in weight and hence give more mileage on a gallon of gasoline.

2. As they are fine steels they give long and uninterrupted wear. Which are but two of many reasons for that definite tendency of world-wide friendship towards Maxwell.

In six years nearly 400,000 have found their answer to the motor car question in a Maxwell.

This year 100,000 Maxwells are being produced. This will supply but 60% of the demand.

Wash Eyes Better Than No Eyes. Although the eyes have been beautifully washed and treated with eye medicine, and adjusted so that it can see forward and backward, they are not yet adjusted for this new world. A great part of the time it is necessary to wear eye glasses. There is no compensation for poor eyes. It is the fact that the wearing of glasses is necessary.

Amber Beads Long Popular

The superstition which exists to the wearing of beads is of ancient origin. The custom of wearing an amber necklace was universally common, and is not yet extinct among old women in England. The amber, when heated, sends forth an agreeable perfume. It is often found in the present under a mother to her daughter on her wedding eve.

LUCKEY, PLATT & COMPANY'S FIFTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY-----

POUGHKEEPSIE, NEW YORK.

DATES, MARCH 19th to MARCH 27th, Inclusive

On these days, we will celebrate the Anniversary of our fifty-one years in business, a period which dates from the time before the Poughkeepsie Bridge was built and when cobble stones formed the pavement on Main street. Step by step during this period, the founders of the business paved the possible way for a bigger and better store and today it stands forth an important institution in the commercial life of Dutchess County and its four adjacent sister counties.

This is by no means the millennium, for plans are already talked of for the rebuilding of the store and improvements that were never dreamed of even so late as ten years ago.

To celebrate the great advancement that this store has made, we are offering these anniversary days, bargains in every department.

YOU WILL FIND IT THE GREATEST SALE YOU HAVE EVER ATTENDED.

WHAT NEAR EAST
RELIEF NEEDS ARE

Horrible Conditions in Armenia and Neighboring Countries That Must Be Relieved From America if At All.

The following statement of the need for aid in the Near East and the methods of affording relief is by Alexander J. Hemphill, chairman of the executive committee, Near East Relief.

"Just what is this Near East Relief?" is a question that many people are asking, whose interests have been awakened to the terrible conditions existing in the Levant today. In prosaic facts, the Near East Relief is a body incorporated by act of congress the object of which is "to provide relief and to assist in the repatriation, rehabilitation, and re-establishment of suffering and dependent people of the Near East and adjacent areas; to provide for the care of orphans and widows and to promote the social, economic and industrial welfare of those who have been rendered destitute, or dependent directly or indirectly, by the vicissitudes of war, the cruelties of men, or other causes beyond their control."

The aim of the organization is one hundred per cent relief, one relief which puts those aided on a self-supporting basis, which instills in them a confidence for the future, places in their hands the means with which to begin life anew, and in their hearts the courage to go on. Work that is the prescription prescribed and provided by those loyal men and women who have journeyed into perilous places for the sake of their fellow-men. To make these people independent for the future, to encourage the flickering fire of national pride.

The Armenians are universally recognized in normal times as the most thrifty, industrious and prosperous people of the Near East, but they have now been for four years exiles and fugitives from their ancestral homes, their last vestige of negotiable property has been sacrificed for food and protection, and they enter the doors here open by the Near East Relief, destitute, hopeless and utterly forlorn.

For these people, escaped from almost unreal horrors, ragged, starving, shaken with disease, naturally the first thought is food, clothing and medical care. In nearly all of the homes maintained by the Near East Relief, there is either a hospital in connection with the institution, a clinic to which the people may go for treatment, or a visiting physician alert to segregate suspicious cases, keeping a watchful eye on the health of the little community.

There are thirty-seven hospitals, with as many as 88,728 clinic attendants each month.

The most persistent ailment, especially among the children in the orphanages, is scabies, that horrid parasitic skin disease, known as "itch." When the children first enter an orphanage, sometimes brought by a relief worker, picked up like a stray homeless little animal in the street, more often drifting in alone, attracted like the same stray homeless dumb thing by the smell of food, they are bathed at once, and then rubbed thoroughly with ointment, for every wandering wail is infected with this disease. It sometimes takes months of treatment to relieve the trouble, their past surroundings, conditions of filth and malnutrition all contributing to its development and tenacious hold.

There are 168 orphanages operating at present in these districts in which the little children have fled from the cruel treatment of the Turk, while supplementary and also in other institutions conducted by nationals and supervised by Americans. Thus far 41,200 orphans, wandering, helpless little creatures have been gathered into the mothering arms within the portals of the Near East institutions, and still they come, and more doors must be opened for there are 250,000 hungry children, sometimes from nameless children in the Near East today.

The orphanages are indeed one of the greatest and most amazing achievements of the relief work financed by the American philanthropists. Almost looking toward the future, the girls are trained in housework, taught to sew, knit, weave and make the laces for which their country is famous, while the boys, wherever it is possible, are being taught the trades of their fathers; carpentry, shoemaking, tailoring, iron work, pottery, printing and the tilling of the soil. In this work unconsciously, pride in race and ability is stimulated anew, while the organization, with fine understanding is replanting the seed of family instinct, torn from its native soil by the ruthless deportations.

And yet the children are a small portion of the destitute in Armenia. Thousands of refugees are continually passing through those towns in which the relief workers are stationed, enroute to their former homes. American soup kitchens are feeding the hungry all along the route. There are fifty-four relief stations catering to this refugee population.

There are 82,291 workers employed in the industrial establishments where wool is furnished for the women to spin and weave, and all the girls who are strong enough are washing wool, sewing beds, grinding and silting wheat, tailoring and learning to make lace. The big problem is to make these women independent.

Practically all minor repair jobs on the relief buildings, the orphanages and refuge homes, the making of essential furniture and machines for the industries, is done in the cabinet shops in connection with these institutions. The shops in the orphanages are in charge of a capable master workman of high grade.

Besides these work shops, there are fourteen rescue homes at present sheltering the girls who have escaped from the harems of the Turks, Kurds and Arabs. Over a thousand of these cruelly fated young women are in the kind hands of Near East relief workers, but other thousands are still held by the Turks, because their release cannot be demanded until there are available places to care for them.

This is the work of the Near East relief in a country from which word comes that the "situation is the worst in the world," where suffering is unbelievable, where 1,200,000 adults and 250,000 little children are dependent on help from America, who will starve if that assistance is withdrawn. Nowhere in history is there a record of suffering on such an extensive scale.

About five hundred workers are now in the field, including 36 eminent physicians and surgeons, 76 nurses, 7 mechanics, 15 industrial experts, 16 agriculturists, 14 bacteriologists, 197 relief workers, 25 supplies and transport workers, 15 teachers, 24 administrators, 24 secretaries, 7 engineers and 45 army officers.

Funds for relief purposes are distributed in two ways. First, the various relief centers are authorized by the Executive Committee to draw sight drafts on New York for specific amounts each month. Second, by supplies purchased in America, the major portion of which are shipped to the committee warehouses at Derindje, the remainder either to Beirut or Batoum.

On the field, the work is divided into three districts: Anatolia, Cilicia and Central Western Asia, under the direction of Major David G. Arnold, headquarters at Constantinople; the Syria and Aleppo district under Major James Nicol at Beirut; and the Caucasus under Col. Wm. N. Haskell at Tiflis. The funds for the Russian and Russian regions are sent through the American Consul at Tabriz, Teheran and Baghdad.

Each of these districts has stations on all of the larger centers, and these in turn serve sub-stations to which supplies are sent.

In each center there is a General Director, under whom the different departments function. A Doctor in charge of all medical work, a Superintendent of orphanages, a Superintendent of Refuge Homes, a Superintendent of the Industrial Work, and also a Transportation Department.

These superintendents have the widest knowledge of the relief work, and it is necessary to obtain their aid in carrying out and supervising the work. The supplies shipped from the United States include such material as cannot be obtained on the field or whose price is so high in Turkey that it is cheaper to send from America.

Natural products, when used for food are purchased in the country. Canned milk, sugar, wheat and such
